

AG G1/Pre-Command Course will occur two times in 2011:

18-22 April

6-10 June

On behalf of the AG School and AG Corps, I would like to take this opportunity to welcome you to Fort Jackson future Adjutant General G1s and Commanders. The Officer Training Department of the Adjutant General School conducts a branch oriented G-1/ Pre-command course to enhance your transition into either of these critical positions. The course involves a series of seminars covering aspects that are vital to the success of any G-1 or battalion commander.

Fort Jackson is the home of the Adjutant General's Corps and the Soldier Support Institute. It is our intent to make this a positive experience for you. To this end we have two of our finest senior leaders, COL Whaley and COL Garlick who has graciously offered their time and is eager to serve as the mentors for your class.

We ask that you come prepared to learn, interact, and share your experiences with your peers, as well as students, faculty and staff in the AG School and Soldier Support Institute. During the course, you will have an opportunity to meet with an AG BOLC, and AG CCC class to provide insights about your thoughts on G-1/command, professional development, expectations and measures of success for junior officers. Students' questions generally relate to impacts of personnel transformation, current events, the HR profession, and past duty assignments and locations.

If you need additional information, please contact Mr. Mike Henley, Course Director, at DSN 734-8353, commercial (803) 751-8353 or email michael.dean.henley@us.army.mil. We believe you will find this experience to be both personally and professionally rewarding.

Again, we look forward to hosting you at the AG School and congratulations on your selection for G-1. DEFEND AND SERVE!

Sincerely,

Robert L. Manning
Colonel, US Army
Commandant,
Chief of the Corps
